Presenter:

- Eric Daigle, Attorney at Law

This seminar will identify the use of force national issues, provide statistical clarity, and look for a way forward together through legal protection, better policy, better training, and community involvement. This training will include a discussion on the importance of words and their interpretation, especially when interpreting actions using force incidents. Attorney Daigle will review the importance of defining terms, how you use them matters, and how you interpret them matters. This training will review the operational standards to identify an effective force reporting and investigation process. To ensure you are developing an effective report form and collection of necessary data to determine risk. Identify a method to evaluate policy and training interpretation.
