December 4, 2019

Greetings from Your Executive Director:

Just a couple of quick updates this week- we have received the most current version of the Criminal Justice Training Commission (CJTC) proposed rules for independent investigations- there are minor changes which are highlighted in yellow. These will be considered and voted upon on Thursday this week, December 5th. I just wanted to get you the most recent version.

There are new proposed court rules being considered by the Washington State Supreme Court. These rules would essentially prohibit ICE from civil enforcement without a judicial warrant for persons going to and from courthouses. I have also attached a letter sent by the United States Attorney General to the Chief Justices of both Oregon and Washington expressing concern about this proposed rule. Be aware of this proposal and you may wish to communicate with your prosecutor about it. The proposed rules are at this link:

Finally, Greg Copeland from KING 5 did a very good piece this week on the date marking ten years since the murder of four Lakewood Officers- I am passing it along here in case you had not seen it.

Have a great week-

Work Hard- Have Fun- Stay Safe
